HOW TO PLAY:

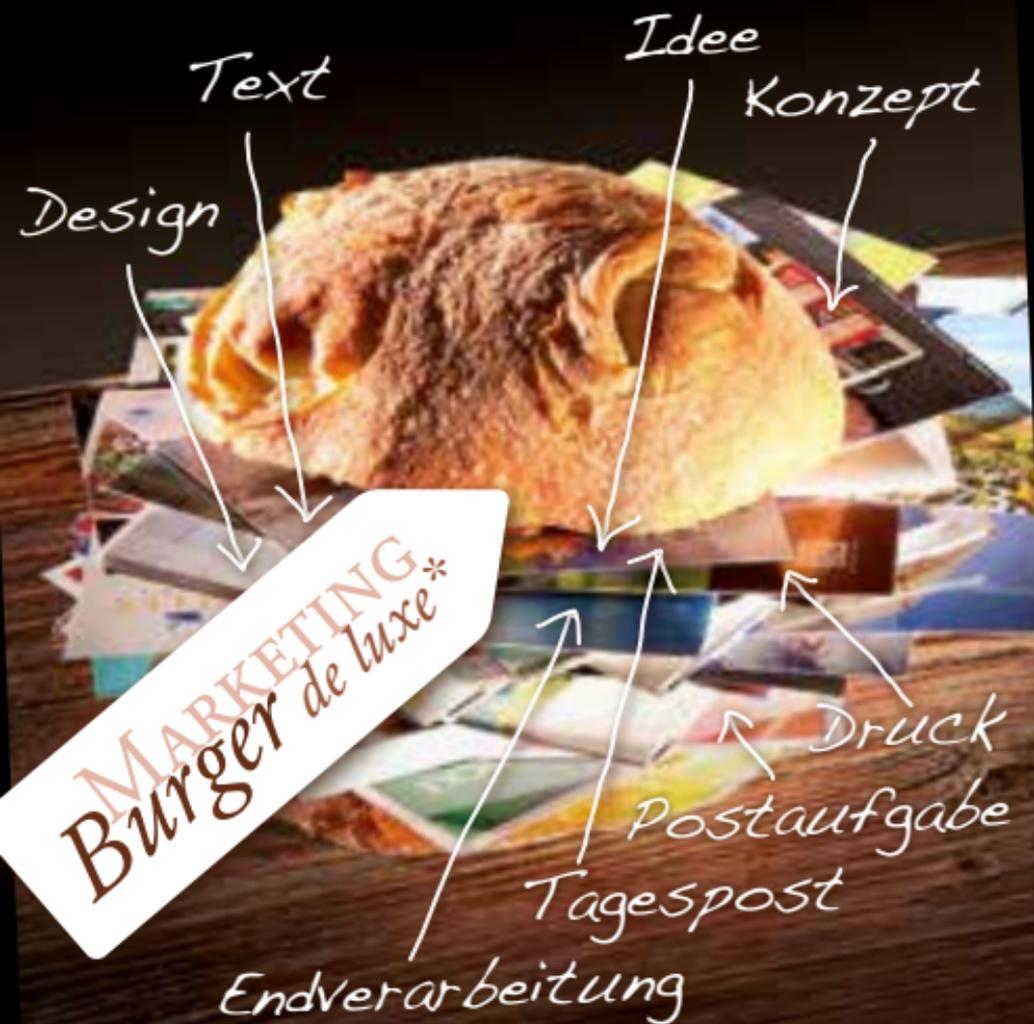

This is a game for two or more players.

Shuffle the cards and deal them equally among the players. Players hold their cards stacked in such a way that only the top card is visible (to them, not to any of the other players)! The player on the left of the dealer now calls one of the reference values of his/card, for instance: accessibility, weather, age group, children, nature.

All the players now take turns to call the equivalent value on their top card, and the player whose card has the best score wins the top cards of all the other players and puts them at the bottom of his/her stack. It is now this player's turn to call the next reference value. As a rule, the highest score wins – except for when a player holds one of the four main cards with Raiffeisenbank Wals Himmelreich, O&O or G.A. Service GmbH, which beat all the other cards.

If two or more players hold cards with the same score, all players place the top cards of their stacks in the middle and the players with the top scores play an additional round to determine the winner. The player who called the original reference value again calls a value; the winner of this round also wins the cards from the undecided round, in addition to the cards from the play-off.

If a player has lost all his/her cards, he is out of the game and the remaining players continue. The player who takes all the remaining cards has won.

KEHLSTEINHAUS, EAGLE'S NEST

The Kehlsteinhaus is a mountain inn situated above the town of Berchtesgaden. It was erected as a prestige building for the Nazis between 1937 and 1938 and is located on a rocky outcrop just below the Kehlstein summit, at an altitude of 1834 metres. A 124 metre-long entry tunnel clad with natural stone leads to an ornate, brass-covered elevator that travels up another 124 metres in just 41 seconds, taking visitors up to the building itself.

SALT MINE "SALZWELTEN HALLEIN"

Salt, the natural bounty that was the making of Salzburg: The pit railroad will take visitors to the realm of the "White Gold", first mined by the Celts more than 2,500 years ago. During the Middle Ages, the trade with salt brought great wealth to the city and the province of Salzburg. A trip down the miner's slides and a raft trip across the subterranean salt lake will create lasting memories. The Celtic village SALINA and the Celtic Museum in Hallein offer fascinating insights in the history of this precious natural substance.
